College of Court Reporting Earns Five-Year NCRA Recertification Through 2031

VALPARAISO, Ind. — September 22, 2026 — College of Court Reporting (CCR) is proud to announce that its Judicial Program has been awarded a new five-year recertification by the Council on Approved Student Education (CASE) of the National Court Reporters Association (NCRA), extending the program's certification through July 2031.

The certification recognizes that CCR's court reporting programs meets the General Requirements and Minimum Standards established by NCRA for approved court reporting education programs.

In its September 21 notification to CCR, CASE noted that attaining a five-year certification is an acknowledgement of an institution's quality at the time of evaluation and encouraged the College to continue enhancing the quality of its administrative processes and educational programs.

"This five-year recertification is an important recognition of the quality of our court reporting programs and the work of our entire CCR team," said Jim Bologa, President and CEO of College of Court Reporting. "For 40 years, CCR has been committed to preparing students for careers in court reporting and related fields. We're proud to continue that tradition while providing students with the education, technology and support they need to move forward in their careers."

The milestone comes as CCR continues to build upon four decades of court reporting education. Founded in 1984, the College has evolved with the profession while remaining focused on specialized education designed for aspiring court reporters.
